Subject: Catch-up

Dear [NHS England member of staff],

Thanks for the useful catch-up. I will brief Gary.

Attached is summary of Trust responses to NHSE's review. Please note this has not been QA'd within the network or, of course, by any of the trusts. The judgments made re whether a Trust has adopted SIM or adapted it could be open to challenge. However, the commentaries on key lines of enquiry are drawn directly from the Trusts' responses. One worth flagging is on slide 17 where Surrey and Borders in their response make the point that their service model has been reviewed by CQC as part of a review of crisis pathways with no concerns raised.

I have also attached a Network chronology of the evolution of SIM and relevant regulatory, policy and research announcements.

In terms of what NHS England's response is to FOI requests re disclosing trust responses, it would be helpful when we next catch up to understand how NHSE is handling FOI requests – see link below as an example: Concern as NHS England blocks bid to see reviews of 'unsafe' SIM scheme – Disability News Service.

Regards,

Bill
